Integrated Marketing Group Inconel Wire Mesh

Integrated Marketing Group Inconel wire mesh, is a powerful metal insulation covering, featuring several types of high resistance qualities. This robust mesh retains its strength and its physical characteristics, even when coming in contact with incredibly high temperatures. Its flexibility allows it to fit easily around even the most irregular curves and complex shapes, and remains strong enough to resist penetration by sharp objects. It is also vibration resistant. Use this durable mesh for industry applications such as the manufacturing of removable insulation covers.
